Australia

2003

Australia restricts the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for final disposal.

Legislation

Section 17 of the Hazardous Waste (Regulation of Exports and Imports) Act 1989. Section 18A also provides that the Minister must not grant a Basel export permit if the applicant proposes that the hazardous waste will be disposed of by a method that is within the scope of Section A of Annex IV to the Basel Convention, unless the Minister is satisfied that there are exceptional circumstances. In deciding whether there are exceptional circumstances the Minister must have regard to the following:

- whether there will be significant risk of injury or damage to human beings or the environment if the permit is not granted;
- whether the waste is needed for research into improving the management of hazardous waste; and whether the waste is needed for testing for the purposes of improving the management of hazardous waste.

The Minister also has discretion to decide not to grant a permit under the Act if there is reason to believe that the hazardous waste could be disposed of safely, efficiently and in an environmentally sound manner at a facility in Australia.

Entry into force: 12 December 1996.

  1988 (CEPA);

  into force: November 26, 1992; and non-parties unless subject to an Article 11 agreement (for example, Canada - USA Agreement; OECD Council Decisions). In addition, Canada permits the export of Canadian PCB wastes only to the United States and only for the purpose of destruction.

Remarks
Although Canada has not ratified the Basel Ban (Decision III/I), our domestic legislation implements the terms of the prohibition through the EIHWR (all exports to countries having prohibited the imports of a hazardous waste and officially notified Canada, are prohibited, be it for recycling or disposal). Exports to non-parties are not permitted unless subject to an Article 11 agreement (for example, Canada - USA Agreement; OECD Council Decisions).

The EIHWR Part II has the following restriction: exports of hazardous wastes to countries that prohibits the imports or are not party to the Basel Convention or not covered under an Article 11 agreement with Canada are prohibited.

There are also a number of conditions such as:
- in the case of exports, require mandatory prior notification of, and consent from (i.e. prior informed consent), the importing country;
- implement a tracking system to ensure that, after shipping, hazardous wastes actually arrive at intended and authorized facilities; and are treated, disposed of or recycled as per the advance notice;
- require every exporter and carrier to obtain insurance to cover environmental damage should an accident occur during the transboundary movement of hazardous wastes; · requirements for shipments which cannot be completed as planned on the notice, to prevent them from becoming "orphans"; · simplified procedures for the transboundary movement of hazardous wastes destined for recovery/recycling facilities within the OECD area, based on OECD decisions; and · the exporting country must permit re-entry of any hazardous waste that may be returned by the importing country.

Countries: All countries and wastes listed in the Basel Convention.

Viet Nam

2003 Viet Nam restricts the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

Countries: The restriction covers all countries and all wastes under the definition.

Remarks: The prohibition of the exportation of wastes may be subject to change or revision in future.

2003 Yemen has no restrictions on the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

UN Region: Western Europe and Others

Andorra

2003 Andorra has no restrictions on the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

Remarks: Given the size and the resources of the Principality of Andorra, the authorities will not be able to possess, according to reasonable criteria, the means to treat and recover all the hazardous wastes and other wastes the country generates. Therefore, and basing its exports on the principles of the Basel Convention (proximity, ecological sound management, reduction), Andorra will probably not restrict the export of wastes that it cannot treat or recover itself.

Australia

2003 Australia restricts the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

Countries: The restriction covers all countries and regions and all hazardous wastes.

Belgium

2003 Belgium restricts the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

Canada

2003 Canada restricts the export of hazardous wastes and other wastes for recovery.

Legislation: Although Canada has not ratified the Basel Ban (Decision III/I), our domestic legislation implements the terms of the prohibition through the EIHW (all exports to countries having prohibited the imports of a hazardous waste and officially notified Canada, are prohibited, be it for recycling or disposal). Exports to non-parties are not permitted unless subject to an Article 11 agreement (for example, Canada-U.S.A. Agreement; OECD Council Decisions).

Countries: As illustrated in 3(c)(i) above, exports to non-parties are not permitted unless subject to an Article 11 agreement.

Remarks: 1. The EIHW include restrictions on exports for recycling. Where Canada is not a country of transit, an exporter may export a hazardous waste only if:

- the export of that hazardous waste is not prohibited under the laws of Canada;
at the time the notice is given, the country of import has not notified the Director that the importation of that hazardous waste into that country is prohibited;· the country of import is a party to the Convention, the OECD Decision or the Canada-U.S.A. Agreement on the Transboundary Movement of Hazardous Waste (which came into effect on November 8, 1986); and· the hazardous waste is not to be recycled south of 60° south latitude.

2. Although there are no restrictions there are a number of considerations such as: The Canada-U.S.A. Agreement which affirms the four basic principles that both countries recognize as necessary to control transboundary shipments of hazardous waste:·
each country must adequately manage waste within its own jurisdiction;·
the exporting country must give the importing country prior notice of the proposed shipment. The importing country then indicates whether it objects to the proposed shipment; · the two countries must cooperate to ensure that transboundary shipments of hazardous waste are accompanied by proper manifests, in order to verify compliance with the Agreement and with domestic regulations; and· conditions of the EIHWR must be met.

The general presumption is that wastes should not be imported for disposal in the UK and imports of all wastes for disposal are prohibited, except in limited circumstances.

Imports of waste for some disposal operations are banned without exception. These are: release into water bodies (oceans, sea beds, rivers etc); incineration at sea; permanent storage; and temporary storage.

For some other disposal operations (landfill, biological, chemical or physio-chemical treatment, and incineration) exceptions are allowed where: the exporting country does not have and cannot be expected to acquire suitable facilities, and where imports of wastes which cannot realistically be dealt with in an environmentally sound manner in, or in closer proximity to, the country of origin; imports for high temperature incineration, from Ireland and Portugal; and imports of hazardous wastes for high temperature incineration from any country, in cases of emergency.

Additional prohibitions apply by virtue of Regulations made under UK health and safety legislation: imports of amphibole asbestos into the UK are prohibited by regulation 3 of the Asbestos (Prohibitions) Regulations 1992; and Imports into the UK, other than from another Member State of the European Economic Area, of the following substances and articles are prohibited under regulation 4(2) of The Control of Substances Hazardous to Health Regulations 1994 namely: 2-naphthylamine, benzidine, 4-aminodiphenyl, 4-nitrophenyl their salts and any substance containing any of these compounds in a total concentration exceeding 0.1 percent by mass; and matches made with white phosphorus.
